CITIZENSHIP TRAINING

Excellent Results Obtained Without Making Children Feel They Are Studying "Civics" and "Ethics."

The public schools of Indianapolis are getting excellent results in training the small Hoosiers and Hoosierettes under their care in the responsibilities of citizenship, without making the children feel that they are studying such subjects as "civics," "ethics," etc. How it is done is told in a recent bulletin just issued by the United States bu-

"The practice in the Indianapolis schools," says Arthur W. Dunn, author of the bulletin, "is to help the pupil to understand the nature of his own community life, his dependence upon it, and his responsibility for it; to develop a right attitude toward government as the means by which all members of the community may co-operate for the common interest, and to cultivate habits or right action as a member of the community."

Civics Taught in Eighth Grade.

The bulletin emphasizes the fact that

The bulletin emphasizes the fact that "civics is not taught as a separate subject until the eighth grade, but that civic education is a phase of all the work of the school. The aim seems to but a process of growth, during which the various relations of life are unMount Gretna, Pa., to participate in the "White there is no attempt to give direct vocation training in the strict sense of this term, nor even any organized form of 'vocational guidance,' nevertheless the fact is always taken into account that the citizen must be a worker and the worker a citizen."

Aid in Governing School. In Indianapolis pupil participation in the government of the school leads naturally into pupil participation in the larger civic life of the community of which the school itself is a part, it is stated. Maintaining order on the playground naturally extends to maintaining order on the streets in the vicinity of the school. It is common for committees of older boys to look after the safety of younger children in crossing streets near the school. Solicitude for the cleanliness and beauty of school grounds develops equal solicitude for the cleanliness and beauty of adjoining streets, alleys and vacant lots. School gardening quickly stimulates home gardening, and whole neighborhoods have been transformed through the influence of the schools. Whether the children who are now undergoing this training for citizenship will in reality be efficient citizens ten or twenty years hence cannot be forefold, according to Mr. Dunn. But he adds: "There is apparently ample evidence that they are better citizens now, and, moreover, that the present civic life of the city is appreciably affected by it. Where immediate results are so apparent and so far-reaching, the effect upon future citizenship should certainly be appreciable." playground naturally extends to main-

Property of Charles Miles, Who Was Drowned.

A queer-looking craft, presenting much the appearance of the prison ship Success, only much smaller, is anchored near the morgue. It has been there since Friday afternoon, the day that the body of Charles Miles, a colored recluse, its owner, was recovered from the river not far from the foot of 11th street southeast.

Miles, the police say, was about as queer looking as is his craft. He was decided temperature changes within about seven feet tall and did not stand any section during the last twenty-four queer looking as is his craft. He was erect, being as far from straight as are hours. the lines of his strange-appearing chooner-rigged boat.

schooner-rigged boat.

Thursday the hermit started from the shore to his boat in a small tender, a boat that was no longer than himself, and when he encountered a squall the little boat capsized and he was thrown overboard and drowned. It was not until Friday that his body was recovered and taken to the morgue, and then anxious inquiries were made about his belongings.

"He always wore a belt about his

"He always wore a belt about his waist," said one interested visitor, "and suspended from it was a bag containing hundreds of dollars."

Such was the claim of several callers, but if Miles had any such amount of cash, the inquirers were told, it was not on him when his body was recovered.

"The cash found on his body," said the superintendent of the morgue, "aggregated 10 cents."

It is said that he owned property in Anacostia. As soon as Coroner Nevitt had made inquiries and given a certificate of accidental death the body was taken to Mason's undertaking establishment and prepared for burial, and yesterday it was taken to Moore's emetery and interred.

There was no religious service held over the body, it is stated, nor was it accompanied to the cemetery by the many interested persons who telephoned to the morgue or called there to view the body and learn of what money had come into possession of the authorities.

money had come into possession of the authorities.

Miles was a native of Maryland, forty years old, and had resided in this city for the past twenty-three years, having come here from Maryland. Search of his effects aboard the boat failed to disclose a will or writing of any kind to suggest what disposition he wanted made of his property.

MAY PAY NO MORE DUES

Twenty members, all of them sixtyfive years of age or further along in the milestones of life, of the Union Soldiers' Alliance assembled in the red room of the Ebbitt House last night to consider whether it would be necessary to pay any more dues into the treasury of the organization, and then to discuss a late hour supper.

There is $16,000 in the treasury of the organization, sufficient to meet the beneficiary obligation of $300 upon death or resignation of all or each of the fifty surviving members, the beneficial obligation of the organization. The matter of discontinuance of dues, as an amendment to the constitution, is to be voted on at a later meeting. In the meantime, by vote of the meeting, it was ruled that no notice of dues should be issued.
